How Gen Z's Can Slay the Finance Game

JANVI BASHANI
CRO 0717899

Introduction

"First the iPhone, then the fancy car, and before you know it Hello, EMIs."

Welcome to the 'stuck cycle' that almost 9 out of 10 Gen Z's fall into right after their first salary — where flexing comes first, and then financial stress follows behind.

Let's be honest — the moment that salary drops, dopamine kicks in. iPhone? That cool bike or dream car? Swipe it. Because it's either YOLO (you only live once) or FOMO (fear of missing out).

But here's the key no one really talks about: That dopamine hit from buying flashy stuff fades fast. What doesn't fade? The EMIs you're now stuck paying every single month. What started as "treat yourself" turns into "trap yourself."

For many of the Gen Z's, it's more about spending to flex now than saving for future later. But that leads straight to long-term financial stress and regret.

Let's talk about how to stop that dopamine first — and start slaying the finance game like a boss.

• Step 1: Stop the Dopamine Trap

- 1. Pause Before You Purchase - Before buying that expensive gadget or ride, wait 24 hours. Ask yourself, "Do I really need this?"
- 2. Unfollow the Flex - Your feed = your mindset. If your Instagram is full of luxury, parties, and fake lifestyles, you'll feel like you're missing out. But here's the truth: most of it is fake, filtered, and far from reality. Follow people who post about growth, hustle, and real progress — not just aesthetic photos.

3. Redefine the Real Flex Here's what the real flex looks like:

- Zero debt (no EMIs)
- Emergency fund (Liquid funds)
- Passive income (like rent or interest)
- Investing early

Forget the fake lifestyle. Financial freedom is what really hits different.

4. Ask Yourself: Would I Still Buy This If No One Saw It?

If the answer is no, you're probably buying it for the Instagram and not yourself. Spend for you, not for your followers. That's how you win long-term.

• Step 2: Now, Slay the Finance Game

1. Start Investing

Example: Start with a SIP — even if it's just ₹500/month.

Start small? Because of magic of compounding.

When you invest early, your money earns returns — and those returns earn more returns. It's like planting a money tree: the sooner you plant it, the bigger it grows.

Invest in what you're comfortable with. The key is: don't wait to be perfect. Just start.

"You don't need to time the market. You need time in the market."

Stop flexing. Start thinking long-term.

That iPhone upgrade? Temporary hype.

vs

Your investment portfolio? Lasting freedom.

A Big difference.

2. Set a Monthly Budget

3. Educate Yourself: You can learn for free example - Watch YouTube channels by trusted finance creators, Follow financial educators, Explore NISM certifications etc.

Conclusion:

Start following people who build, not just brag. Being smart with money isn't boring — it's powerful. Real Gen Z's Power: Smart Spending + Early Investing

So next time you feel the urge to flex, ask yourself: Is this a short-term flex or a long-term win?

Because trust me,

BALANCING PERSONAL AND PROFESSIONAL LIFE EQUALLY:

A Key to Sustainable Success

ASMIT JAIN
CRO 0784415

In a world that moves at an ever-increasing pace, the ability to balance personal and professional life has become a cornerstone of sustainable success and overall well-being. The struggle to maintain equilibrium between work responsibilities and personal aspirations is a challenge faced by millions. Achieving this balance is not merely about time management—it is about setting boundaries, aligning priorities, and cultivating a lifestyle that supports both professional growth and personal fulfillment.

Why Balance Matters

Work and life are not separate entities; they are two sides of the same coin. When one side dominates, the other inevitably suffers. Prolonged work stress can lead to burnout, anxiety, depression, and physical health issues. On the other hand, a neglected career can result in financial instability and a lack of purpose. True success lies in harmonizing both areas, ensuring neither is compromised at the cost of the other.

Key Strategies for Maintaining Balance

1. Set Clear Boundaries

Define your work hours and stick to them. Avoid checking emails after hours or taking calls during family time. Let your colleagues know your availability and respect their boundaries too.

2. Prioritize Your Health

Physical and mental health are the foundations of a balanced life. Exercise regularly, eat well, get adequate sleep, and make time for mindfulness or relaxation.

3. Learn to Say No

Not every opportunity or request needs a “yes.” Evaluate whether additional tasks or commitments align with your priorities and whether they’ll contribute positively to your life.

4. Leverage Technology Wisely

Use technology to increase productivity—not to stay tethered to work 24/7. Automation tools, calendars, and time-tracking apps can help you stay organized without feeling overwhelmed.

5. Make Time for What Matters

Spend quality time with family and friends. Pursue hobbies, volunteer, travel—do things that enrich your life outside work. These experiences often fuel creativity and motivation at work.

Real-Life Inspiration: Anna Sebastian

Anna Sebastian's story is a heart-wrenching reminder of what happens when balance is lost. A 26-year-old chartered accountant at Ernst & Young, Anna passed away due to cardiac arrest after months of extreme workplace pressure. Her mother revealed how the long hours and constant stress left her daughter physically and mentally drained. Anna's death sparked national conversations in India about toxic work cultures and the urgent need to prioritize mental health and work-life boundaries.

Her story is not just a cautionary tale—it is a call to action. Organizations must recognize that their employees are human beings with personal lives, not machines designed solely for productivity. Similarly, individuals must acknowledge their limits and advocate for their well-being, even if it means challenging conventional workplace norms.

The Role of Employers

Employers play a critical role in fostering a balanced work culture. This includes:

- Encouraging flexible work arrangements
- Promoting mental health awareness
- Ensuring fair workloads
- Creating a culture where time off is respected and celebrated

Leaders who model work-life balance send a powerful message that productivity is not measured by hours spent at a desk but by the quality of work and the sustainability of the employee's efforts.

Conclusion

Balancing personal and professional life is not about perfection—it's about making conscious choices that support your values and health. It's a continuous process that requires self-awareness, discipline, and often, courage. Whether you're an ambitious professional or a dedicated parent, finding this balance is not only possible but essential.

Let us learn from stories like Anna Sebastian's and commit to a culture that values life, not just labor. In doing so, we pave the way for a healthier, more humane, and ultimately more productive society.

GREEN TAXATION: PAVING THE PATH TO SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT

SHRINITHY S.S
CRO 0708102

Introduction

In the face of accelerating climate change, rising pollution levels, and unsustainable resource consumption, green taxation has emerged as a vital fiscal policy tool to promote environmental sustainability. Also known as eco-taxation or environmental tax, it is a means to correct environmental externalities, shifting the burden of pollution and ecological damage back to the polluters.

As Mahatma Gandhi wisely said, “The earth provides enough to satisfy every man's needs, but not every man's greed.” Green taxation aims to restore this critical balance between economic growth and ecological integrity.

I. What is Green Tax?

Green tax refers to levies imposed on goods and activities that harm the environment. These taxes are based on the “polluter pays” principle, compelling industries and individuals to bear the true cost of environmental damage.

II. How is It Computed?

Green taxes can be computed in several ways, depending on the environmental metric in focus:

- (i) Carbon Tax: Based on the amount of carbon dioxide (CO₂) emitted. For instance, a per-tonne rate is charged on greenhouse gas emissions.

- (ii) Fuel Taxes: Imposed per litre based on fuel type, with higher rates for more polluting fuels like diesel.

- (iii) Vehicle Green Tax: Computed based on the age of the vehicle, fuel type, and level of emissions. Older vehicles pay higher tax.

- (iv) Plastic Waste Taxes: Based on the weight or volume of non-recyclable plastic packaging.

The idea is simple: “The more you pollute, the more you pay”

III. Need for Green Taxation

India, with its burgeoning population and rapid industrialization, faces severe environmental stress. According to a World Bank report, air pollution alone costs India nearly 8.5% of its GDP annually. Climate events like floods, heatwaves, and droughts are becoming more frequent.

Thus, green taxation becomes a necessary policy imperative to:

1. Internalize environmental costs.
2. Promote cleaner alternatives.
3. Raise funds for environmental protection.

IV. Essence of Green Taxation

The essence of green taxation lies in making environmental harm economically expensive. It incentivizes greener behavior and encourages innovation in cleaner technologies. Governments can reinvest these revenues into renewable energy, sustainable transport, and afforestation.

As former UN Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon said, “There is no Plan B because there is no Planet B.”

V. Steps Taken by India

India has already initiated several steps in line with green taxation principles:

1. Green Tax on Older Vehicles: In 2021, the Ministry of Road Transport announced green tax on vehicles older than 15 years for personal use and 8 years for commercial use.
2. Carbon Pricing Initiatives: Though India has not implemented a direct carbon tax, it levies a clean energy cess on coal at ₹400 per tonne.
3. Goods and Services Tax (GST) Exemptions: Renewable energy devices and services attract only 5% GST, compared to 28% on luxury goods.
4. Faster Vehicle Scrappage Policy: Aims to phase out polluting vehicles and reduce urban emissions.
5. National Hydrogen Mission & Solar Initiatives: Encouraging green energy through incentives and low taxation rates.

VI. Challenges in Implementing Green Taxation

Despite its promise, green taxation in India faces several roadblocks:

1. Political resistance to fuel price hikes.
2. Potential regressive impact on low-income households.
3. Difficulty in emission measurement and compliance.
4. Industry pushback, especially from coal, automotive, and manufacturing sectors.
5. Lack of administrative capacity to monitor and implement green taxes effectively.

VII. Conclusion

Green taxation is not just an economic tool; it is a moral and ecological necessity. By embedding the cost of environmental harm into market prices, it encourages behavior change and funds sustainable development.

As economist Nicholas Stern said, “Climate change is the greatest and widest-ranging market failure ever seen.” Green taxation helps fix this failure fairly and efficiently.

VIII. Way Forward: Green Taxes as a Pillar of Sustainability

To maximize the benefits of green taxation, India must adopt a balanced and inclusive approach:

1. Progressive Tax Design: Higher taxes on luxury pollutants and lower burden on essential services.
2. Revenue Recycling: Use proceeds for green jobs, clean energy, and subsidies for the poor.
3. Integration with ESG Policies: Embed green tax incentives into corporate governance and finance.
4. Public Awareness Campaigns: Help citizens understand the environmental and health benefits.
5. Global Coordination: Harmonize green tax rates across borders to avoid trade distortions.

India's commitment to net-zero emissions by 2070 requires fiscal courage. Green taxation, if thoughtfully implemented, can be the foundation for a greener, cleaner, and more resilient future.

एक लड़की और उसकी ख्वाहिशों का रिश्ता

AKANKSHA MEHTA
CRO 0427835

एक लड़की -हर किसी की खुशियों का रास्ता बनाने के लिए भेजा गया एक नाम। एक बच्ची को अपने मा बाप की इज्जत बनाए रखने की खुशी। एक मा का बच्चो के आगे सब त्याग देने की खुशी। एक पत्नी का अपने पति की इच्छाओं से चलने पर पति की खुशी। ओरत की पूरी ज़िन्दगी दूसरो के रास्तों के पीछे निकल जाती है। क्या अपने कभी सोचा कि उसे भी अपनी इच्छाओं से जीने का हक है।

क्यों एक लड़की अपनी पढ़ाई रोककर घर बैठे क्योंकि एक दिन उसे दूसरे घर जाना है। एक लड़की को ही घर के सारे काम सीखना ज़रूरी है? क्या उसके बिना उसकी कोई पहचान नहीं। दुनिया में आज भी हर काम उन्हीं पुराने विचारों को निभाते हुए हर लड़की पर क्यों थोपे जाते है?

हर इंसान मे अपनी अलग पहचान बनाने का जज्बा होता है। लड़की बिना घर के काम जाने भी निपुण कहला सकती है। आज भी क्यों एक लड़की एक लड़के को अस्वीकार नहीं कर सकती। क्यों हर जगह लड़की को ही अपनी बातों में मनवाकर दूसरो के फैसले थोपे जाते है। एक उस लड़के के लिए भी एक लड़की को निपुण होना ज़रूरी है जो खुद में निपुण नहीं। हर समय एक लड़की को ही क्यों परखा जाता है? एक लड़की की शादी पर दहेज नाम का रिवाज़ क्यों पूरा किया जाता है? क्या लड़की का यही मोल है कि उसका मोल भाव किया जाए। कोई यह क्यों नहीं समझ सकता कि एक लड़की संसार का हर काम कर सकती है। कमी लड़की में नहीं। कमी दुनिया की सोच मे है। एक लड़की शादी के बाद अपना सर ढककर ना चले तो घर के बड़ों की इज्जत नहीं होती। उस इज्जत का क्या जो उसके दिल में उनके लिए है।

एक लड़की अपने हिसाब से मनचाहे कपड़े क्यों नहीं पहन सकती। सोचिए एक मोड़ पर एक लड़की छोटे कपड़ों में आती है वहा खड़ा एक आदमी उसे घूरता है। वही कुछ देर पश्चात दूसरी लड़की बुर्खे में आती है। वही आदमी उसे भी उसी नजरिए से घूरता है। क्या यहां गलती लड़की के पहनावे में है या उस आदमी के नजरिए की। जहां सोच ना हो वहा हर सच फीका लगता है। अगर वो सालो का रिश्ता तोड़कर आगे बढ़ रही है तो यह क्यों नहीं सोचा जाता कि उसकी कुछ मजबूरी रही होगी। उस लड़की के लिए यह बोलना क्यों ज़रूरी है कि उसे किसी आदमी ने छोड़ दिया। क्या गलती हर वक़्त लड़की की होती है। क्यों वह हर वक़्त दूसरो के कहने से चले। क्या उसके पास खुद के फेसले लेने का हक नहीं है? एक लड़की अपने हक से रहना भी जानती है। अपनी खुशी का रास्ता ढूंढ़ना भी जानती है। सही गलत में फर्क भी जानती है। किसी को कोई हक नहीं कि किसी लड़की पर गलत निर्णय दे। क्यों एक लड़की को कहा जाता है कि वो एक पत्नी बनने के लायक है और दूसरी लड़की को कहा जाता है कि वो सिर्फ प्रेमिका बनने के लायक है।

एक लड़की और उसकी ख्वाहिशों का रिश्ता

ज़रूरी नहीं जो दिख रहा हो वही सच हो। हर इंसान अपने आपमें अलग है। कोई कौन होता है किसी को परखने वाला। एक लड़की खिलोना नहीं है। भगवान के बाद एक लड़की के पास ही इतनी ताकत है कि वो ज़िन्दगी में जन्नत को धरती पर उतार दे। उनकी इज्जत करो। रिश्ते में हजार जुल्म के बाद भी उसी रिश्ते की इज्जत रखने की हिम्मत रखती है। उसके सामने उचा नीचा कुछ नहीं होता। तो आप भी उसे खुद की नज़रों में यकीन ना दिलाए कि वो एक लड़की है जो कुछ भी करले एक मर्द नहीं बन सकती। उसकी कदर करे। उसकी कीमत समझेंगे तो वो आपके कदमों में दुनिया भर की खुशियां डाल देगी। उसके फैसले का तिरस्कार ना करे। उसका साथ दे क्योंकि वही एक लड़की उस एक बार के साथ को ज़िन्दगी भर का साथ निभाने में जुटा देगी। एक लड़की अपने बल पर हर मुकाम हासिल कर सकती है। उसे कुछ कर दिखाने के लिए किसी की ज़रूरत नहीं। ज़रूरत है तो बस एक साथ की और उस सोच की जो किसी इंसान को कम नहीं समझती।

लड़कियों के लिए कुछ बातें-उनके साथ मत रहो जो आपको खुशी दे। तुम खुद वो बनो जो तुम्हें खुशी दे। आपके बदलने की चाहत आपके वही रह जाने से कई बड़ी है। ज़िन्दगी छोटी है दूसरो कि इच्छाओं से चलने पर बर्बाद मत करो। वही करो जिसकी तुम्हारा दिल तुम्हें इजाज़त दे। खुद की खूबसूरती समझो। तुम किसी से कम नहीं। सिर्फ तुम ही हो जो ज़माने की सोच बदल सकती है। अगर तुम ही झुक गई तो ज़माने को तुम्हें झुकाने में देर नहीं लगेगी। अपने फैसलों पर चलने की हिम्मत रखो। कोई तुम्हें रोक नहीं सकता। तुम्हारी ज़िन्दगी है। तुम किसिकी मोहताज नहीं। तुम्हारी खुशी बनाना तुम्हारे हाथों में है।

खुद उठो वरना सब कुछ त्याग कर खुद को खोदो। फैसला तुम्हारा है। खुद की इज्जत अपनी सोच की इज्जत नहीं रखी तो दुनिया से उम्मीद मत रखना कि कोई ओर उस सोच को समझेगा। दूसरो को समझाने ओर समझाने से पहले खुद को समझो। झुकना कमज़ोरो का काम है और हम कमजोर नहीं।

LIPSTICK INDEX

Understanding Beauty and Economics

SIMARPREET KAUR
CRO 0705773

Introduction

Have you ever thought that a beauty product can be an indicator of economic downturn? Well yes, Lipstick Index is one of them. The concept of Lipstick Index was founded by Leonard Lauder in 2001. He was the then chairman of Estée Lauder, an American multinational cosmetic company. During 2001 recession in various nations, he observed that the sale of lipstick increased at that time even though the economy was not in good condition. And so, he came up with this indicator.

What is Lipstick Index?

When an economy is in its recession period, people tend to find joy in buying small luxuries such as beauty products, small kitchen appliances, watch movies etc. It is a human psychology that even though there is an economic downturn people want to buy small and affordable luxuries to make themselves feel good. With this the sale of such goods increases and it appears to be an indicator of recession.

Why this?

This index is easy to notice and an interesting way to know about the condition of economy by evaluating consumer behaviour. We have studied the concept of 'needs and wants' in economics. Needs refer to basic requirements that are necessary for survival whereas wants refer to such desires which are not necessary but still required for maintaining quality life. People want to maintain their standard of living even during recession. So, they tend to maintain it by buying less expensive luxury goods. In this way such goods become an economic indicator by studying the psychological needs of consumer. But such indicators cannot be used as sole indicator of economy.

Drawbacks

As we saw that Leonard Lauder founded this concept when he saw that there was an increase in sales of lipstick even during recession, however during Covid-19 when everyone was at home and it became unavoidable to wear masks, there was a decline in index. Hence, this indicator ignores other conditions which might affect the economy.

Conclusion

It is a good indicator to study economy by studying the psychology of consumer behaviour but we cannot solely depend on this. This can be used with other indicators. The indicator may shift to other beauty products depending on the various trends in the society. Further, nowadays there are many more similar indicators such as big mac, popcorn indicator etc.

Battles, Books & Victory

The CA Journey

Late nights, books in hand,
Dreams of success, a future planned.
Number's dancing, pages turn,
A deep desire—the fire burns.
Goodbye fun, goodbye friends,
Scrolling stops, the chats end.
Lonely days, but eyes on the prize,
Because big dreams need sacrifice.
Pressure builds, doubts arise,
Relatives talk, hopes shake inside.
But parents stand, strong and true,
Saying, "We believe in you."
Teachers guide, lifting high,
Words of wisdom, "You will fly."
Just when comfort finds its place,
ICAI brings another tricky race!
One attempt, two, maybe more,
Tired heart, yet ready to soar.
Then the day comes—victory bright!
Every struggle, worth the fight.

A CA at last, the battle won,
Years of struggle, now outshone.
Through sleepless nights and endless grind,
The world now sees—a brilliant mind!

Industrial Training: Your Gateway to The Corporate World

KAPIL LALWANI
CRO 0776516

Chartered Accountancy (CA) is not just about clearing exams—it's about becoming a well-rounded professional. One of the most transformative parts of the CA journey is Industrial Training, a golden opportunity for students to experience the real corporate world before becoming full-fledged Chartered Accountants.

What is Industrial Training?

Industrial Training is a 9 to 12-month period that CA students can opt for during the last year of their articleship. Instead of continuing in a regular CA firm, students get placed in corporates like Tata, Infosys, ITC, Reliance, ICICI Bank, and even in MNCs like Deloitte, KPMG, PwC, etc. This gives them a chance to experience how finance, taxation, audit, risk management, and strategy work in large organizations.

Why is it Important

1. Practical Exposure: You apply what you've learned in books to actual business scenarios.
2. Corporate Culture: You understand how meetings, deadlines, reporting, and teamwork function in big companies.
3. Better Job Prospects: Many companies prefer candidates with industrial training experience, especially in campus placements.
4. Networking: You meet professionals from various backgrounds—an opportunity to build your future network.

Some Key Statistics

- According to ICAI, over 5,000 students opt for industrial training every year, and the number is growing.
- More than 60% of industrial trainees get pre-placement offers or direct interviews during ICAI campus placements.
- On average, industrial trainees earn a stipend of ₹15,000–₹25,000 per month, which is higher than most articleship stipends.

Fields You Can Explore

- Internal Audit
- Financial Planning & Analysis
- Risk Management
- Direct and Indirect Taxation
- Compliance and Secretarial
- Mergers & Acquisitions

Final Thought

Industrial Training is not just a checkbox—it's a chance to polish your skills, build your resume, and experience the life of a professional. If you want to bridge the gap between textbook knowledge and corporate application, this is your golden ticket.

So, if you're in your second year of articleship, start planning now. The right training can shape not just your resume—but your entire career.
